ETH zürich

The newly established professorship for Law, Economics, and Business headed by Professor Dr. Alexander Stremitzer at ETH Zurich is searching for

Teaching Assistants (Law)

We are looking for students who are pursuing a Doctorate in Swiss Law at the University of Zurich Law Faculty (or a comparable institution) who are interested in working as teaching assistant for a
1) "Contracts" class with special emphasis on contract drafting to be taught at ETH Zurich in Fall 2018.
2) "Introduction to Law Class" to be taught at ETH Zurich in Spring 2019.

The teaching assistants will support the professor in preparing teaching materials, do research for the class, will hold office hours with students, and help with grading. The appointment will be for at least one year, with flexible starting date beginning July 2018. Salaries are competitive, paid according to ETH standards.

The ideal candidate will be a Doctoral Student in Swiss Law with a focus on private law and a good general knowledge of Swiss administrative law. A successful candidate will have excellent grades and preferably some prior experience in teaching or teaching support.

We look forward to receiving your online application, including a cover letter, CV, law school transcripts, and contact details of at least two referees. Application review will begin on May 1, 2018 and continue until the positions are filled. Please note that we exclusively accept applications submitted through our online application portal. Applications via email or postal services will not be considered.

For further information, please visit www.lawecon.ethz.ch. Questions regarding the position should be directed to Prof. Alexander Stremitzer by email at alexander.stremitzer@gess.ethz.ch.

Apply now